to be erected, on the northwest corner of Grace and Seventh Streets, the site selected.

Special attention is called by Mr. Bryant to the shape of the building, or rather buildings, all connected at different points, so as the make each, and every part of these suparate buildings, all connected at different points, so as the make each, and every part of these suparate buildings accessible, and at the same time give fresh at and abundant light to all rooms, corridors, and so on. Mr. Bryant describes the proposed building in detail as follows:

"The main entrance is, of course, on Grace Street, as that is the most desirable for many reasons—it faces on one of the prettlest streets in the city, and will be used more than any other, as it is more accessible. This entrance is a wide Colonial porch, which extends along both sides of the central wing, and opens into the main lobby on the right and left and into the right and left wings of the building.

"The main or central entrance is in the centre of the middle wing. The visitor enters first into a corridor, which leads straight up to the nuditorium floor above. On both right and left of the main entrance there are reception rooms.

"This feature is intended as a general lounging place when any entertainment is being held in the auditorium, or when a reception is being given.

"These rooms would be decorated with paims, etc., and made quite snus and cozy places for all to meet, and enjoy themselves without any passing or repassing of those who do not care to attend the reception, but still wish to use the quarters on either the right or left wings of the building, or wish to go down to the basement to enjoy the gymnasium, swimning-pool, showers or bowling alleys.

"To continue to describe the first floor, will take its right wing: This is en-

"These offices are connected directly with the general secretary's working office, on the conier, and with his private office, both of these facing on Grace the roof. On the right of these is the stair hall, men's parlor and men's lounging room.

"The left wing is entered from the porch and also from the alley on the west of the bulkling. To the left, after entering from the porch, there are rooms set aside for boys' reading room, lounging room, game room, tollet and cloak room. On the right are class rooms, that can be thrown into one, if needed, by means of opening the folding doors.
"At the extreme end of this wing is the lecture-room, which will seat sixty, and will be shut off from all the noise of the streets.

"In the rear of the central building on this floor, is the visitors' gallery and running track, which hangs out over the gymnasium below, and is connected with same by two circular stairways and two silde poles. Between the visitors' gallery and entrance under main stairway, is a large committee room, examination room, and physical director's room.

BRENT AND NEWBERRY WIN IN THE GREATEST RACE EVER SEEN HERE

Richmond Skater and Baltimore Man Both Collapsed After Contest Was Over-Time Almost Equals World's Record.

An immense crowd shouted themselves hoarse last night at Idlewood when the Richmond boys, Brent and Newberry defeated Lang and Priddy, of Baitmore, in the Australian pursuit race, after fifteen and three-quarter laps, or one and con-fifth miles, in the fastest time ever made on the local skating rink. The first mile was rolled off by Brent in 3:20 flat, or only five and three-quarter seconds behind the world's record made by Arthur Cookson in St. Louis last Saturday night—1:26-15-on a six-lap track. Considering the number of turns to make on the Stretches fully equals that of Cookson, and will remain the record in this section for many days. Newberry put up the prettiest ace he has ever made on the local rink, and was only a few feet behind Priddy when Brent took his place, and on the fifteenth lap caught Priddy and passed him as they turned for the sixteenth.

DESPONDENCY DRIVES YOUNG MAN TO SUICIDE

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) (Special to The Times-Disastch.)

NORFOLK, VA., January 19.—W. W. Murray, of Rochester, N. Y., apparently about forty-five years of age, early this evening jumped overboard from a wharf here and drowned himself. Despondency seems to have been thhe cause of his suiciding.

Laborers on the wharf saw him plunge into the water, and the body was shortly gotten out, but efforts at resuscitation were unavailing. Murray appeared to be drinking. He came here on January 6th and was stopping at a local hotel.

Mrs. William Watson, wife of William Watson, stone mason, living at 694 Beverly Street, says: "I first noticed that I had kidney trouble about six years ago. It was a constant dull, aching pain, which grew worse as time passed. It caused mapain to stoop or to do any heavy lifting. In the morning it was only with sreat difficulty that I could get up and dress, as my back would be so lame and stiff. I was also annoyed with sick headaches, and I felt weak and miserable nearly all the time. I tried remedy after remedy, in fact, everything my friends advised, but got not even relief. At last I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills, and procured a box at Owens & Minor Drug Co's store. They proved just the remedy I needed, and the headaches and other symptoms of kidney trouble became things of the past, I was then able to do any work without feeling the slightest pain. I recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to those who suffer as I did."

tie Heath, a white girl, not more than eighteen years old, whose home is said to be in Louisa county.

The man was locked up at the First Police Station, and when seen at a late hour by a Times-Dispatch reporter, declared that he was innocent of the charge.

"I live with my brother, C. H. Barlow, at No. 812 North. Twenty-first Street, and I met this girl there about four months ago," he said, in answer to the first question put by the reporter.

Barlow declares the girl came to his home late Friday night and asked for him. He met her and says his conduct was that of a gentleman.

While the police were very reticent about the matter, it developed on the outside that Barlow and the Heath girl intended going to the skating rink last night, and that instead they went elsewhere. Patrolman Hackett arrested Harlow after he had heard a statement from the girl about the attempted ansault. Miss Heath was detained at the police station but a few moments, and her residence in the city is not given out by the police.

Rail Fence Along Seventh Street Fronting Southern Shops Will Be Erected.

CHURCH MEETING TO-DAY

The Clopton-Street Congregation Will Try to Settle Vexed Question,

Manchester Bureau, Times-Dispatch, No. 110 Hull Street,

A railing fence will be built along Seventh Street fronting the Southern shops. The rence will be about the shops. The rence will be about the same height as that of the one there previous to the strike of the machinists, and will not necessarily have to be four feet high.

It was erroneously reported that Alderman R. L. Patram favored the tearing down of the present fence. As a matter of fact, Mr. Patram was one of the most ardent supporters of the proposition to allow the high fence to remain along Seventh Street, from Semmes Street to the Free Bridge. It was he who was practically the cause of the death of the ordinance or resolution from the City Assembly to tear down the high fence when the question came before the Board.

The difference of opinion am The difference of opinion among the members of the lower and the upper branches of the Council caused the repointment of the conference committee, which unanimously recommended the ordinance to tear down the board fence and replace it with a rail fence, such as was there previously.

as was there previously.

Church Matter to Come Up.

The members of the Clopton Street Baptist Church will to-day decide whether or not the old church property will be sold for part payment of the debt incurred by the erection of the new building. It is in compliance with an order of Judge Watson, of Chesterfield county, that the church votes upon the proposition. As to the decision of the majority there is a great deal of doubt. Factions are arrayed against factions, and the church is practically divided at this time, Many want to have a new edifice and others wish to remain in the old building. Rev. Dr. R. H. Pitt, of Richmond, will preside at the meeting, which will be executive.

Will Accept Resignation.

The congregation of Bainbridge Street.

Will Accept Resignation.

The congregation of Balnbridge Street Baptist Church will meet this morning to consider the resignation of Rav. Dr.
E. V. Baldy. It is practically certain that the resignation will be accepted, as the pastor, who has labored here for several years, and who is beloved by many,
has expressed his determination to sever
his relationship with the church.

There is considerable interest manifest among the members of the church as to who will be called to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of the Rev. Mr. Baldy. As yet no names have been mentioned.
